I hope everybody who came along to Burton Dasset enjoyed themselves and that those who ran on the contours only map enjoyed the novelty.

It was a nice sunny evening which seemed to attract a crowd to the park to hang out and watch the sunset etc. There were no problems with the controls however, always a worry at Burton Dasset where there is nothing to secure most of them too.

Many thanks as ever to Bruce Bryant for mapping and Liz Phillips for organising the entry system as well as Tom Entwistle, Barry Elkington and Richard Gardner for control collection. About ten of us enjoyed a drink and some had a meal in the pub at the bottom of the hill afterwards, hopefully this will start a trend for Wednesday evening events.
